Get Certified! By completing these classes, you get an EDI Academy certification.

Read Our Testimonials We have hundreds of previous attendees praising our classes.

Learn how to read raw data and map from scratch! Mapping Best Practices....

In this training session you will also learn a lot of mapping best practices, for example, connecting elements/segments at the same hierarchal level is very important. For example, you will learn to connect header level segments on the input side to the header level segments on the output side of a map, you will also learn how to map detail-to-detail, and summary-to-summary sections.

In this section we will also cover the best practices of connecting elements/segments with the same data type. For example, you will learn how to map from numeric fields to numeric fields, date-to-date, string-to \-string. The instructor will illustrate the importance of using the same data type in both the input and output section the same map when possible.

In the process of mapping the instructor will explain that all segments/elements on the input side of the map will be in the file.
